A GOOD teacher, a good coach, and, most important of all, a good fellow. The Harvester staff is happy to dedicate this year's book to PAUL PLATZ, who, as a winning football mentor, has been a source of inspiration to many a Corcoran boy, and who, as an instructor, has been a friend to everybody. We hope he never forgets the warm place he occupies in the hearts of both his football and classroom students.

Helmsmen

B. E. CLAYPOOL, Superintendent

B. E. CLAYPOOL, new superintendent, worked hard to make the school year a success. Here's his statement to students and graduates: "Education is a form of growth, and, like other forms of human growth, is a slow and gradual process. The normal young person is unaware of physical growth; there is no pain or other sensation to cause awareness. Accurate measurements may be made and recorded of successive heights and weights, and by reference to them, physical growth over a period of time becomes tangible and evident. So with education or mental growth; it cannot be felt as it occurs, and many are led to believe no progress is taking place. Even though accurate intellectual measurements are not so easily made, each individual can determine whether over a period of time he has increased his understanding of himself, his environment, and the relation and responsibility of one to the other. Such an increase is tangible evidence of his becoming educated."

LOWELL YEAGER
Dean of Boys

DEANS: Probably no one worked harder at Corcoran Union high school this past year than Lowell Yeager, dean of boys, and Mrs. Lillian Adney, dean of girls. Their tasks and problems seemed endless, and lots of times assumed proportions of big and little headaches—thanks to thoughtless students who violated school rules, got to classes late, skipped, or just didn't behave themselves. The two deans, always sympathetic and patient, constantly were ready to help deserving pupils with their registration, grades, study problems, personal difficulties, and future plans. And their kind efforts were appreciated, too!

LILLIAN ADNEY
Dean of Girls

Well, I guess we've had lots of fun in this home room this year! best of luck your home room pal Frances Johnson

Navigators

TEACHERS: They did an excellent job of navigating in the deep seas and through the threatening shoals of adolescent education — not always an easy task, either, when you consider that they were working with as bloody and desperate a bunch of landlubbers that ever scuttled a classroom. But, tried and true, these masters of educational seamanship stuck it out through a whole year of tempests and hurricanes. A hearty bunch, and always willing to lend a helping hand. The students were proud of their well-trained and hard-toiling faculty.

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

First Mates

STUDENT GOVERNMENT: Commanding groups of Corcoran high school again were headed by the student body officers and the student council, which included homeroom representatives and class presidents. These groups established a new high in student government, setting up new policies. Presiding over the student council was ASB president Kay Maroot. Other officers were Dale Flaherty, vice-president; Diane Rumbold, secretary, and Tony Zuniga, business manager. Their main chore was to set up various standing committees and to write a new constitution. The constitution was to have been submitted to students in the spring.

The committee form of government was established for the first time, and became popular. Two new committees, assembly and athletic, along with the rally group, completed the plan. For the first time in recent years, the student council decided to join the California Associated Student Councils. Purpose of CASC is to promote better relationships between student body organizations in the state.

SENIORS: Taking their last voyage to that paradise island, Graduation, the senior class of 1954 will leave the rest of their hearty shipmates to guide the ever-bearing ship to its goal. These famous seamen, departing this June, will be well remembered among friends for their achievements in the fields of sports, student government, drama, journalism and scholarship.

When this group of sturdy sea scullions first joined the crew here at CUHS as freshmen, they were a bunch of bewildered seamen, but they soon began learning the ropes and had many dances and activities. As oarsmen, in their sophomore year, they staged a much talked about Christmas Ball. The dance was in the Thursday Club. The theme: Jingle Bells.

The gunners carried their good reputation into an active junior season. As third-year apprentices they toiled loyally, with concessions at the football and basketball games, and indicated a fine group spirit. Of course, the highlight which climaxed the many hours of work put in by the juniors was the traditional Junior-Senior Prom. The theme was Oriental Gardens, and everyone agreed it was the most successful prom in many a year.

When they finally emerged as Masters this year, they proved their seaworthiness gained by four years on the open sea. Their two big events were the senior trip and, of course, graduation. The annual trip was an enjoyable and profitable tour, thanks to a lot of hard work in planning by Mrs. Edith Robinson, adviser. Seniors raised money for it by having concessions at all the home football and basketball games and at the Corcoran rodeo. Another project was the annual donkey basketball contest, in which the faculty edged the seniors, 18 to 16. The class sponsored many after-game hops and also special downtown sales.

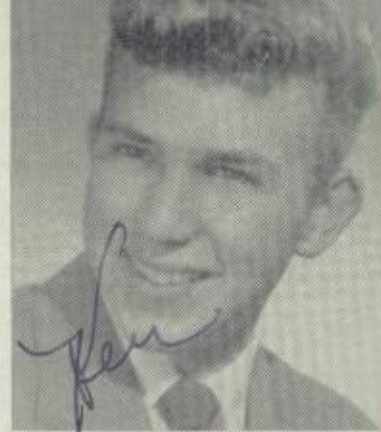

This is the last voyage of the seniors. It has been featured by ordering of announcements, pictures, and senior sweaters. The class was guided by Captain Leonard Thigpin, with Bill Squire assisting. Gladys LeMay kept the log, with Ken Hammond, as sergeant-at-arms, keeping the noisy crew quiet.

Senior Trip

SENIOR TRIP: In previous years the senior trip extended over a period of two weeks, but this year's seniors were to be away for only one week. Everyone was grateful to Mrs. Edith Robinson and the other class advisers—John Bodger, Sal Sanfilippo, Irving Bobb and Miss Phyllis Briggs—for the work they did to help plan the senior tour. More than 60 seniors had signed up for the journey and paid their $25 for expenses.

Some of the places the seniors were to have gone are: Knott's Berry Farm, Pasadena Playhouse, China Town in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Catalina, San Diego Naval Base, and the Santa Barbara Mission. The tour was planned as an educational and recreational experience for the students. The travelers were to leave Corcoran May 8 and return May 15.

Last Will

What would graduation be, if seniors didn't make a will of some kind to be remembered by after they are gone from their alma mater? True, these wills are not always very flattering, but maybe that's why they're so much fun. What an odd assortment of things willed: Beautiful figures, big noses, lovely dispositions, high (?) grades, boy friends and girl friends, favorite (?) teachers, old jalopies, terrific personalities, and what have you! What wonderful blessings are bestowed on our fair school by these sadly departing seniors!

I, KEN ADAMS, will the muffler on my car to Mickey Robb. . . . I, PATSIE ADAMS, will my typing ability to Darrell Crain. . . . I, RALPH AMADO, will my last pack of cigarettes to Mike Sanchez. . . . I, DIANNE APPERSON, will my pictures of Robert Wagner to Sue Ginsburg. . . . I, ANNA ARCHIBALD, will my interest in a '52 Mercury to Betty Blankenship. . . . I, JAN ATKINS, will my interest in a '49 Mercury to Betty Evans. . . . I, ESTHER AVITIA, will my tumbling ability to Dolores Anaya.

I, LEO BECK, will the road to Hanford to any boy smart enough to take it. . . . I, NADENE BENTON, will my place on The Panther Tales staff to Barbara Cropper. . . . I, MARY ALICE BIGGS, will my ability to cut hair to Barbara Cropper. . . . I, JOYCE BREWER, will my shyness to Opal Thomas. . . . I, BILLIE BYNUM, will my ability to tumble to Dixie Harris. . . . I, HELEN BYNUM, will my short hair to Gloria Campos.

I, CRUZ CHAVEZ, will all my English books to Mr. Walker's senior class next year. . . . I, LYLE CLARK, will the trumpet part in the jazz band to Mickey Robb. . . . I, PATSY CRIST, will my engagement ring to Miss Sullivan. . . . I, BETTY CROOKSHANKS, will my ability to swim to Clara Buttler.

I, VIRGINIA DAVIS, will my shorthand grades and books to Shirley Whiteside. . . . I, FELIX DELGADILLO, will my running ability to the Wood brothers. . . . I, BLASA DELGADO, will my ability to walk fast to Annie Magallanes, who can never keep up with me.

I, BETTY ELY, will all my school troubles to Rita Forrester. . . . I, LENORA EVANS, will my dimples and black eye to Betty Jones.

I, JIMMIE FALLIN, will my sousaphone to Bill Niell and my ability to play the piano to John Brimhall. . . . I, DALE FLAHERTY, will my football T-shirt to anyone who can stand the smell. . . . I, RITA FORRESTER, will my walk and smile to Pat Carter. . . . I, JIM FOWLER, will my build and my ability to lose women to Gerald Sparks. . . . I, CAROL FREEMAN, will my passion for jazz band players to Barbara Goodrich.

I, ARTIE GARDNER, will my muscles to Mr. Walker, who really needs them. . . . I, DARRELL GARDNER, will my handsome looks to anyone who is handsome enough to take them. . . . I, CAROLYN GILBERT, will my many good times at CUHS to the lowerclassmen. . . . I, DON GOMEZ, will my cooking ability to Nathanael (Smitty) Marshall. . . . I, FRED GRESHAM, will all my wild nights to Mike Kennedy and hope he will carry them on. . . . I, JENI GUILLEN, will the guy from Washington to Shirley Alexander, who will like that.

I, KENNETH HAMMOND, will my ability to flirt to Onnie Wright. . . . I, VERLEE HAMMOND, will my vocal cords to Carol Litwiler.

I, BARBARA KANNA, will my wedding band to June Bradstreet. . . . I, GEORGE KANNA, will my loving ability and long legs to Geraldine Ross. . . . I, MARGARET KOEPKE, will my loud mouth to Shy.

I, DICK LE BLANC, will my blue Plymouth to my brother Larry, who can't drive. . . . I, DOROTHY LE MAY, will my ability to keep my man to Anna Archibald. . . . I, GLADYS LE MAY, will my junior class ring to James Phillips.

I, KAY MAROOT, will my ability to get out of classes to Jim Riley.

I, DON PADILLA, will all my girl friends, except one, to Joe Plazola. . . . I, BETTY PAREDES, will my charge account at Nason's to Gloria Campos. . . . I, CARROLL PERKINS, will my crew cut, red hair, and freckles to Mike Kennedy—he needs them. . . . I, BILL PHILLIPS, will my blue Ford to the lousy guy that swiped my hub caps. . . . I, GERALDINE ROSS, will all my out-of-town boy friends to Pat, Adell, and Connie. . . . I, DIANE RUMBOLD, will my astounding athletic ability to Shirley Whiteside.

I, SANDRA SAWTELLE, will my junior ring to Onnie Wright. . . . I, JEAN SCARBOROUGH, will my ability to land a man to Pat Carter. . . . I, GLADYS SIRMAN, will my giggle to Ellie Taub. . . . I, PAUL SMITH, will my knowledge of history and my fine penmanship to Mr. Bodger. . . . I, BILL SQUIRE, will all my good times with Jacklyn to Jacklyn, with more to come.

I, LEONARD THIGPIN, will my height to Pinky Keyes.

I, GLORIA VENEGAS, will J.B. to Merita, or whoever is lucky enough to get him. . . . I, EDWARD VINCENT, will my heart to any girl that can keep it.

I, JOHN WALLS, will my extraordinary good grades to Nancy Folsom. . . . I, CAROLE WEIR, will my waistline to Monte DeRose and my love of French poodles to Carolyn Ober. . . . I, FRED WHITE, will my ability to cooperate with Mr. Marsee in band activities to Bob Staley. . . . I, RUFUS WOOD, will my drumming to Charles Wright.

I, TONY ZUNIGA, will my ability to make a mess, and my library work in band, to Esther Sitton.

Boatswains

JUNIORS: These warrant officers of the Good Ship CUHS may have seemed a bit piratical at times, stealing the show from their first officers, the seniors, but you have to admit that these boatswains (juniors to you) were an active bunch. Under the faculty advisership of A. James Marsee, chairman; Phil K. Erickson, Charles Williamson, Eugene Barney, and Kay Sullivan, they performed nobly in the stormy seas of education. The third-year hearties proved outstanding in scholarship, school spirit, and athletics.

Keeping everything shipshape throughout the year were Mike Kennedy, president; Keith Perkins, vice-president; Barbara Silvera, secretary-treasurer, and Fernando Armenta, sergeant-at-arms. The junior class was well represented in the Junior-Senior play. Barbara Kyle and Mike Kennedy, two popular juniors, had the leading roles. Other juniors in the cast were Carolyn Ober, Monte DeRose, Elwood Robinson and Audrey White.

The class selected one of the outstanding rings in many years at CUHS, and everyone was proud of it. Although the juniors lost the junior-senior football contest on Thanksgiving day, 21 to 13, the players gave their fellow classmen something to root about. A highly successful school year was climaxed with the presentation of the annual Junior-Senior Prom, which was held at the Fremont cafetorium. This final dance, a traditional farewell party for the seniors, will long be remembered as the "big moment" of the class' long year of social activities.

SOPHOMORES: They made pretty good gunners, these sophomores, because they were out gunning all the time for all the honors they could capture. They were one of the really peppy outfits in school, and were outstanding in school spirit, scholarship, and athletics. Just ask their advisers—Miss Nellie Lu Eaton, John Brimhall, and Billy Woodward—and they will tell you how anxious these sophie boom-boom kids were to get into varied activities.

The annual Christmas Ball, which is always the sophomore class' big project, was declared the best ever by many students who attended. It was held in the clubroom on the Saturday before Christmas, and was well patronized. "Snowflake Fantasy" was the decoration theme. Music from the Hammond organ was provided by George Miner from Visalia. All the committees worked hard.

Betty Fuller and Verdell Florence represented the sophomore class on the P-TA panel which discussed teen-age problems and views. During the year many students were on the honor roll and others were admitted into CSF membership. Officers were Joaquín Ruiz, president; Verdell Florence, vice-president; Elvira Ramirez, secretary; Charlie Toledo, treasurer; Wayne Crow and Grant Marshall, sergeants-at-arms.

FRESHMEN: The latest additions to the CUHS crew, who are at last beginning to untangle themselves from the many phases of the complex life aboard the good ship Corcoran High, are the greenhands—the freshmen. These deckhands of the education world went to work with a vim and vigor that augur well for the future of the school.

Biggest event of the year on the greenies' schedule was that well-attended Valentine party February 12 in the clubroom. It was one of the best affairs on the year's social calendar. On the committee in charge of arrangements were Norma Hickey, Virginia Peoples, Barbara Oldham, Judy Squire, Joan Terry, Wayne Westbay, Nancy Cooper, Mava Saylor, Joan Johnson, Linda Boyett, Jerry Coleman, Nancy Grigsby and Betty Johnson.

John Lockhart did a swell job of piloting the class through the year. Helping him were Dale Martinez, vice-president; Ramona Requero, secretary; Wayne Westbay, treasurer; Ignacio Gomez, sergeant-at-arms. Sponsors who counseled the freshies in their affairs were Charles Reneau, chairman; William Gearhart and Stanley Stivers. At the time of writing this copy, no decision had been made as to whether there would be a sophomore-freshman play.

BUNNY MARSEE
Adviser

SERGEANNETTES: Decked out in their new blue and gold uniforms and twirling flashing batons, the high-stepping Sergeannettes, under the enthusiastic direction of Mrs. Bunny Marsee, added their talents to numerous activities throughout the school year. Led by Sandra Sawtelle, colonel, the girls' drill team appeared with the band at all home football games and at parades in Visalia and Hanford, and in Corcoran's Armistice day celebration. The girls also appeared in the annual P-TA and March of Dimes variety shows.

The group sponsored two dances this year, and both were very successful, as Sergeannette functions usually are. The Western dance was held in February and was well attended. The "Bunny Hop," a semiformal affair, was put on in April and was one of the finest dances of the year. At the beginning of the school year, the girls honored their mothers with a tea in the clubroom, and in November a card party was held at the Thursday club downtown to help pay for uniforms.

The Sergeannettes' money-making projects included the sale of personalized stationery and greeting cards. This, too, helped the girls pay for their uniforms and for their annual $100 scholarship which is awarded to some deserving Sergeannette who is graduating.

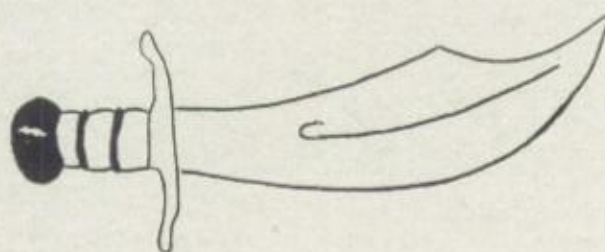

Out in the lead with the band at athletic assignments in the first semester were the colorful majorettes, the pick of the Corcoran high school baton twirlers. These girls are pictured individually in a section of the Harvester just ahead of this page, and as a group several pages beyond the band pictures.

Corcoran was proud of its marching band, which is well known across the state. It not only played at all the football games, to help urge the team on to victory and to entertain the fans, but it appeared again in the Los Angeles Coliseum at a Pacific Coast conference grid game and once more was selected to play at the Shrine East-West contest in San Francisco. The above picture shows the band, led by the highstepping majorettes, marching down Whitley Avenue in the snake parade and football rally just preceding the opening of the local grid season.

Director

BAND: In his sixth year at CUHS, A. James Marsee, band director, molded the nucleus of last year's excellent group, plus 26 freshmen, into one of the finest all-around marching and concert bands ever to be produced at Corcoran high.

These bandsmen were faced with the challenge of upholding the high musical standards set by previous local music makers—that of receiving nothing but a superior rating at the valley section of the California Music Educators Association music festival, held this year at Exeter. After a month of hard preparation, these highly touted musicians accomplished just this, with the utmost of musical and technical skill.

The band was always on hand to play for the pep assemblies and for many school activities. The marching band, which performed at football games, parades, and other civic functions, was by far the best ever assembled. The intricate marching maneuvers that were performed with such professional precision were acclaimed by many people. Constant comments from the fans were that they had seen a lot of college units that weren't as good. Corcoran was well represented when the band made its annual trip to the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco, and to the USC-Oregon State football contest in the Los Angeles coliseum.

A total of $620 was raised in the annual sale of band calendars for the purpose of purchasing new uniforms, which unfortunately did not arrive until April 1. The following day the student musicians paraded down Whitley Avenue, helping to open the Spring Festival in Corcoran. Rufus Wood, a senior, for the third straight year led the band in the sale of band calendars and listings.

Eight seniors will be lost through graduation, but with many students with playing experience up from junior high, the CUHS band next year should be about 65 strong.

The music certainly went round and round when Corcoran High's classy band, pride of A. James Marsee, director, got together. Top picture is of the woodwind section. Dance Time

SOcial SEASON: School life wouldn't be complete without dancing, and Corcoran high school had its share of nice social events this past season: The Mardi Gras, March of Dimes dance, Sergeantettes western dance, the lovely Christmas ball, the CSF party, the frosh dance, and the Sergeantettes Bunny Hop. Home Ec and FFA had parties, too . . . Top left: Winfield Gilkey, Joan Johnson, Goldie Wimer, Bill Niell at Mardi Gras. Top right: whooping it up at March of Dimes dance. Left: fun at the HARVESTER: Pirates way over in the San Joaquin Valley! Well, it was fun choosing the pirate theme for the 1954 Harvester, and not a very easy task for the landlubber staff, who, after all, didn't know very much about pirates and the bounding main which they sailed in search of booty. But the theme brought a fresh idea to the Harvester and, at least so thinks the staff, has added a bit of brightness to the book.

If you think it isn't a tremendous task to get out a yearbook, just ask Carroll Perkins, editor, and the others who toiled second period every day to bring the annual into realization. Worst terror of all was the inevitable and unrelenting deadlines, always staring one in the face. Pictures had to be taken throughout the many months of school, and care exercised so that no person or organization belonging in the book be left out. And no matter how hard one tries, there are bound to be oversights and mistakes, since it isn't easy to attend classes six periods a day and get all the work done.

All of the yearbook processes are technical and call for exacting work, because, after all, neither type nor engravings will either stretch or shrink at will. They just must fit! A little misjudgment here or a miscalculation there and phooey! problems galore. Helping Carroll as assistant editors were Charles Meistrell, who also served as student photographer; Felix Delgadillo, who doubled as sports editor, and Annie Magallanes, who was girls' sports editor and general handy-and-y. Fred Harris was advertising manager, and was ably assisted by a good staff of ad salesmen consisting of Kenneth Hammond, Dorothy Le May, Dick LeBlanc, Kenneth Adams, Bill Phillips, Jean Scarborough and Betty Crookshanks. Ed Vincent did an excellent job as business manager. Leo Beck was school life editor, with James Fowler as assistant. J. D. Brown, Norma Branch, Bill Crusha and Doris Higgins were general staff members. Loyce Arnold, Larry LeBlanc and Bob West helped during first semester.

PANTHER TALES: For the second straight year Corcoran high school had a printed paper that compared favorably with any in the valley. Last year The Panther Tales was cited by the Pacific Slope School Press, which covers the eight western states, as one of 22 school publications showing the most outstanding achievement. The paper also won high honors at the San Joaquin Valley Scholastic Press Association conference at Fresno State College. Recognition came to the Tales when its adviser, Phil K. Erickson, was asked to speak at press conferences in Seattle at the University of Washington and at College of the Sequoias in Visalia.

The Panther Tales was published in the shop of the Corcoran Journal. Advertising was sold to Corcoran merchants, who showed great confidence in the paper's columns by taking out space regularly. The amount of advertising carried in the Tales exceeded the figure of most valley school papers. Dick LeBlanc broke all records by selling two full page ads and a total of 132 inches, in one edition. Kenneth Hammond served as ad manager, with Fred Harris and Dick LeBlanc assistants. Outstanding selling was done by others: Verlee Hammond, Betty Crookshanks, Dorothy LeMay, Kenneth Adams, Jean Scarborough and Bill Allen.

The editorship of the paper was batted around a bit, but Patty Shepherd did pretty well at it, Betty Blankenship helping out. Bill Phillips, Kay Maroot and Felix Delgadillo handled the sports chores, with Bill Hamby contributing good articles. Roy Haynes was feature editor, and Diane Rumbold, a good reporter, acted as girls' sports editor. Joellen LeMay did a yeoman job as business manager; Vivian Yount assisted her. Kenneth Hammond was circulation manager, Rufus Wood his assistant. Nadene Benton did fine writing as a special editorial assistant, Virginia Davis, Lyle Clark and John Andrade doing a good job as reporters. Others who helped are Barbara Cropper, Tony Zuniga, Barbara Pillow, John Walls, Rufus Wood, Ed Coffman, Fred Gresham, Gladys Sirman, Joe Betancourt, Nate Marshall, Carol Freeman and Bob West.

AL WALKER
Director

DRAMATICS: A mystery comedy in three acts, "The Spirits Walk," was the annual junior-senior play, presented under the able direction of Al Walker, dramatics adviser. This production was the first in many years in which such unusual and elaborate costumes were worn by the cast. The excellent student and faculty cooperation aided in making "The Spirits Walk" one of the finest plays ever presented at Corcoran high.

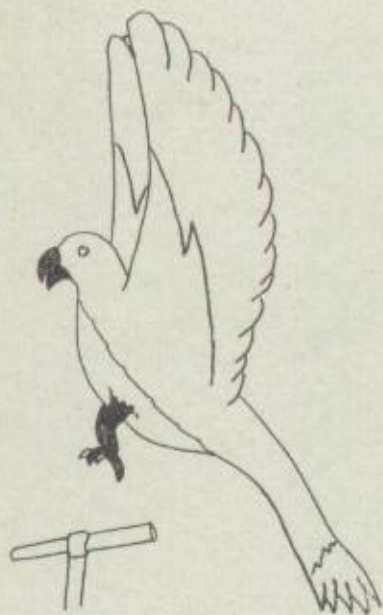

Barbara Kyle, who portrayed a young girl engaged to Fred White, wanted to sell her ancestors' home, Barnsley Manor, to Florence Rose, a woman interested in the study of metaphysics. Mike Kennedy portrayed Florence's nephew, who believed the idea of a haunted house was fantastic. Carolyn Ober, Monte DeRose, John Walls and Elwood Robinson played the dead ancestors, who didn't want the family mansion to be sold to some unknown woman. These ghosts pulled many pranks in an effort to turn the buyers away.

Rosemary Oldham was another woman interested in buying Barnsley, but she was quickly frightened away by the spirits. Audrey White played the housekeeper, who was accustomed to the mysterious happenings in the old house.

Many of the playgoers were fascinated by the unusual portrayal of ghosts and live actors on the same stage. Combined with the exceptional acting and elaborate costumes, this production should go down in the annals of Corcoran high drama as one of the best.

Vocal Director

CHORUS: Music! Music! Music! CUHS has a class where you don't have to know who Napoleon was or even what an adjective is—all you have to do is sing.

The admirable chorus under the capable direction of John Brimhall brought fine entertainment this year. The Christmas concert, the Festival in Exeter, and a concert at the Methodist church were the highlights of a rich season. Other appearances were at the spring band and chorus concert, TV show, a student assembly, commencement exercises, and a number of clubs—Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, and Thursday club. They had a magazine sales drive in which Fonda Beshears was the top seller. Proceeds went into the chorus fund.

The choraliers, pictured below, have also made a number of appearances. They were organized this year for the first time at CUHS. They, too, performed for the Christmas concert, Spring Festival, P-TA show, and for other functions. The vocal music department as a whole has made many public appearances and has been highly complimented on the performances.

THREE SINGING GROUPS that brought audiences a lot of pleasure throughout the year were the girls' glee club, shown above, and the quintet and girls' trio, pictured below. The glee sang at the Christmas concert, at a songfest in the Methodist church, at the festival in Exeter, and again in the spring. They were rated superior in their field, and Mr. Brimhall, vocal music instructor, was proud of them.

Advisers

CSF: One of the highest attainments in high school is that of scholastic achievement. Many of the students at Corcoran high obtained this goal. CSF, the California Scholarship Federation, has become one of the most popular organizations in school this past year. The purpose of this club is to promote a higher standard of scholarship in the high schools throughout California. Membership is attainable only upon earning ten semester points from grades, or eight scholastic points and two for extracurricular activities.

Each A merits three points and each B adds one in solid subjects, while in the non-solid subjects, an A totals $1\frac{1}{2}$ points and a B $\frac{1}{2}$. Membership is on a semester basis so everyone must strive to remain in the club. A life membership pin is the goal of every member of the group.

An important time is that when the students take over as teachers for a day. First semester CSF day was held in December. Many students thought this would be a one-day vacation, but were fooled by the CSFers, who did a splendid job.

Corcoran's CSF chapter was also well represented at the fall conference held at Yosemite valley in October.

The club's money-making projects included food and cake sales downtown. Lots of fun is had at the initiations of new members. Advisers for the organization were Charles Reneau, head, and John Bodger, assistant.

Second semester CSF was very active and many things were accomplished. An initiation of the new members was held in February, and in the same month the group put on a dance for the student body. This was the first dance that CSF ever sponsored, and it proved successful.

CSF day second semester was held in April, with students once again replacing the teachers for a day.

A trip to the coast was enjoyed by all the members, both first and second semester, during April. They left Corcoran at 6 o'clock in the morning and spent a fun-packed day at the beach.

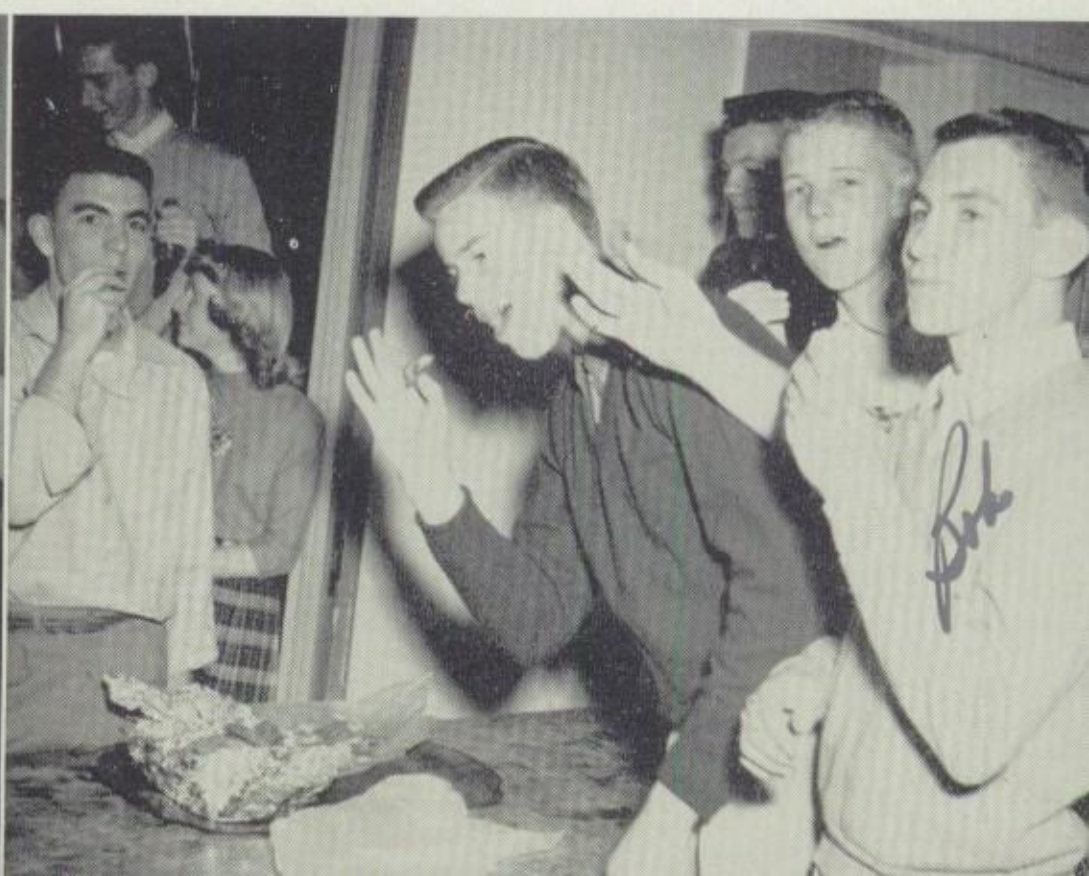

The spring CSF conference was held at Washington high school in Easton.

The California Scholarship Federation is swiftly becoming one of the most active organizations at CUHS under the excellent sponsorship of Charles Reneau and John Bodger.

BILL WOODWARD
FFA Adviser

FFA: Under the enthusiastic leadership of Billy Woodward, adviser, the Future Farmers of America enjoyed one of their most prosperous years. Seventeen members of the chapter entered exhibits in the Kings county fair in Hanford October 15. Placing first and second, respectively, in farm mechanics were Jim Odle and Don Padilla. Ernie Moyer, Gary Brewer and David Hardcastle copped ribbons in the calf pen division. In hammer repair Jerry Brewer took first, and in sheep trough James Watts second.

The annual box social was held in January, with square dancing and fun for everyone. Cruz and Tony Chavez represented the CUHS unit at the Kings-Tulare section cooperative quiz contest in Woodlake. Corcoran's FFA played host to the sectional parliamentary procedure contest in March, with Hanford, Visalia and Porterville winning.

Joan Terry, a freshman, was chosen chapter sweetheart and received her crown at the annual barn dance in the gym in March. The club's activities included a parent-son barbecue October 10 in the ag shop, attendance at a basketball tournament at College of Sequoias, and a snow trip with the GAA members.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB: The Home Economics club again was one of the most active organizations in the school. Under the friendly supervision of Miss Phyllis Briggs, home ec instructor, these girls enjoyed many worthwhile curricular and social functions.

One of the club's first projects was the annual initiation of new members. Ceremonies included a four-day prelude of requiring the neophytes to dress up in ridiculous costumes and do some embarrassing stunts. The affair was climaxed by the annual jinx night, when members were formally initiated. The annual doll raffle also was a highlight. It was held downtown January 28. The club's members made a complete wardrobe for Sweet Sue, as the doll is named. Proceeds from the raffle sales were used to sponsor the annual Mardi Gras, which was one of the year's finest formal dances. It was held March 13 in the clubroom and was backward—girl asks boy. Margaret Koepke and Leonard Thigpin reigned as queen and king. Prizes for the best masks went to Mike Kennedy and Judy Archer.

Other activities of the club were a Christmas party, preparation of a fine dinner for the county's high school principals, and a community birthday party. Candy and cake sales were held Fridays.

Swashbucklers

HI-Y and TRI-HI-Y: These two groups have been quite active this year. They represented Corcoran at the annual Y Day in Hollywood, which included a variety show and a football game between UCLA and Stanford. Activities this year included a candy sale, which was climaxed with a dance in the clubroom. The money was used to help finish the YMCA lodge at Camp Redwood. Mike Kennedy, Kay Maroot and Sandra Sawtelle participated in the YMCA model youth legislature in the Sacramento capitol building. Both clubs joined with the Kings county YMCA council in attending a number of county functions.

Steering The Course

ASB COMMITTEES: This year a serious attempt was made at organizing an official Associated Student Body government, with four standing committees, sometimes referred to as commissions, set up. The groups established were constitution, assembly, boys athletic, and girls athletic. The designated purpose of these committees was to serve as liaison between the faculty and different departments and administration in scheduling and carrying out an effective student body activity program.

The constitution committee was the most active of the group, and in fact toiled long and arduously in an effort to draw up a satisfactory student body constitution. The work had to be revamped many times and, at this writing in April, the committee was not yet ready to present the document to the students for consideration and voting. Members of this committee have done a yeoman service for their school, for they put in a tremendous number of long, tedious hours researching in the interests of their duties.

It is not certain just how much work the student members of the other standing committees did in the conduct of their responsibilities, but at least a start was made. Here are the identifications on the pictures above:

RALLY COMMITTEE: The Rally committee got off to a good start under the advisership of hard-working Sal Sanfilippo. Leonard Thigpin was elected chairman, and later gave up his office to Keith Perkins in the interests of turning out for basketball.

The committee did a wonderful job preparing for football and basketball game support. They sponsored amusing and inspirational entertainment at pep assemblies held every Friday during the first semester sports season, decorated the goal posts, staged a downtown snake parade, sold blue and gold rooters caps and corsages for the girls, and performed ably in many other ways.

Helping the committee were Tommy Mazon and his peppy yell staff, and A. James Marsee and the school band, always on the job.

PANTHERS: This year's varsity team had a very successful season, as they took third place in the Southern Sequoia conference. With impressive victories over Orosi, Hanford and Woodlake and with the big win of the year at Hanford, considered as in a higher league, it appeared as though Coach Paul Platz would cap, with a league crown, a three-year rebuilding job.

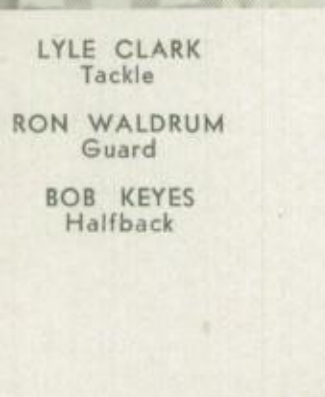

But it seemed the Hanford contest should have been played after the regular season because, although the team followed with easy wins over Woodlake and Lemoore, the brand of performance wasn't nearly of the caliber as that of the Hanford game.

Last year Corcoran was edged out of league contention by Wasco, and a repeat performance was enacted this season, Wasco winning 7 to 6. The Panthers should have won.

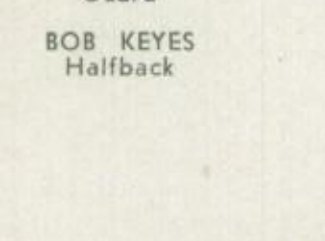

The Coalinga Horned Toads were the first block removed on the road back, and then only the traditional game with the Shafter Generals loomed as a serious threat. Although the best game of the year was played against Shafter, the Panthers hadn't counted on such a great Shafter ball club, which Coach Platz characterized: "They are the best tackling high school football team I've seen in three years." A 9 to 7 count was no disgrace. Exeter was beaten in the final game of the year on the home field, 13 to 0. Altogether, it was a grand season.

JUNIOR-SENIOR GAME: It was the first annual Junior-Senior football contest, and the Seniors had too much class for their opponents, whipping them 21 to 13 in a game played Thanksgiving day. The Juniors had a lot of fight, but the experience in the lineup of their "superiors" was just too much for them.

Bill Phillips, Kenny Adams and Bill Squire figured prominently in the Seniors' scoring, with a great block by Jim Fowler contributing plenty at a critical time. The upperclassmen started right off with the first play and kept their younger opponents pretty well disorganized until late in the game.

The Juniors came to life in the third quarter, coming from behind to register two touchdowns, both by Onnie Wright, a speedy ball carrier, but the final gun went off before they could rally sufficiently for a third try.

The Senior lineup: Ken Adams and Bill Phillips, ends; Jim Fowler and Leo Beck, tackles; John Walls and Dale Flaherty, guards; Tony Zuniga, center; Keith Perkins and Fred Gresham, halfbacks; Lyle Clark, fullback; Bill Squire, quarterback; Felix Delgadillo, Bill Hamby and Don Padilla, substitutes.

CUBS: If you look at the scores, you wouldn't think they were exactly marauders, these swashbuckling B football players, but those who followed their fortunes closely agree they were a hard-fighting bunch. Under their coach, Bill Rowe, and assistant, Don Bausman, the Cubs turned in some mighty interesting football, and could have won more contests with a little luck and fewer mental mistakes.

To start the season the boys were rolled over by a strong Orosi eleven, 18 to 0. A week after that they were ambushed at Hanford, 25 to 0. They fought hard against Woodlake, only to lose 19 to 6 in a game in which Sidney Grant made the first touchdown of the season. Felix Delgadillo and Don Padilla also were outstanding. Lemoore then came to Corcoran to play the first league game, with the Cubs coming out on the short end of the score, 13 to 0.

Probably the most exciting contest for the boys was with Wasco, a game they lost by only one point, 13 to 12. Melvin Jones, left half, scampered 76 yards for one touchdown, and Nylon Scott, also a left half, made the other TD. The Cubs won their only melee of the season, against Coalinga, 13 to 0. Bill Hamby and Nylon Scott, tailbacks, did the scoring. Shafter beat the Bs, 18 to 0, and Exeter trounced them, 26 to 7. Frank Avitia, a center, scored, to surprise everybody.

Boys selected through the season by the Corcoran Quarterback club as outstanding player of the week were Nylon Scott (twice), Melvin Jones, Felix Delgadillo, Bill Hamby, Buddy Tharp, Bill Niell, David Gilbert, Bob Harrington and Jerry Lott.

Shoot to Kill!

ROBERT HINES
Coach

VARSITY: Sounds vicious, this Shoot to Kill headline above, and actually the Panther boys did go out every night a-shootin' away. When the fighting was over, they hadn't succeeded in doing much killing, but just the same they had done some deadeye shootin'. Head Coach Robert Hines sweat blood trying to get his proteges on the winning side, but, though the players tried their best, the season's final count read: Won 3, lost 14.

Ruben Gomez, who was the outstanding A player, was high point man and broke the CUHS record by making 36 points while playing against the Lemoore quintet. Bob Keyes was elected most valuable man, and Bill Phillips was captain. It was greatly to the credit of the Varsity team that they knocked off two of the top league contenders, beating Coalinga 61 to 53 and Lemoore 70 to 35. Gomez, Fred Gresham, Bill Squire, Fernando Armenta and Mike Sanchez were the returning lettermen to start the season.

SCORES OF GAMES

Following are the scores of all the Varsity basketball team's games, in the order played. Coach Bob Hines worked hard, but just couldn't manage to get a consistently winning combination together. Jim Rich did a swell job as manager.

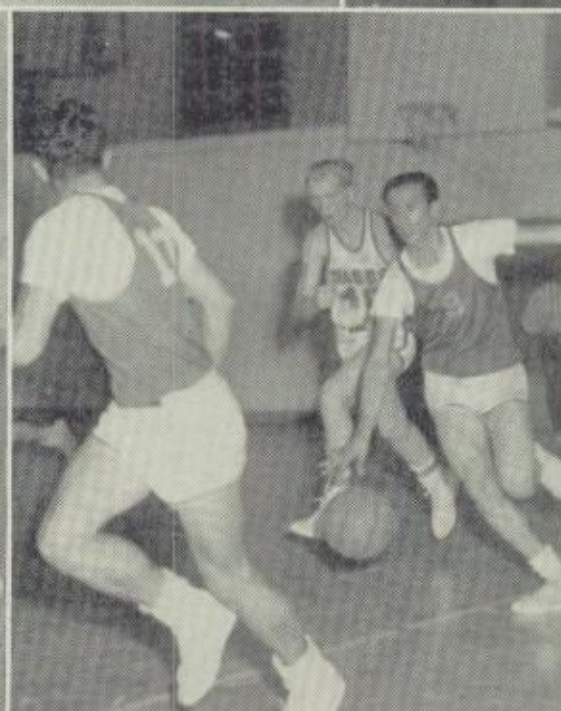

Here they are: Delano 51, Corcoran 42; Hanford 44, Corcoran 26; Delano 48, Corcoran 39; Corcoran 51, Parlier 39; Corcoran 61, Coalinga 53; Exeter 69, Corcoran 49; Wasco 57, Corcoran 48; McFarland 74, Corcoran 53; Lemoore 75, Corcoran 57; Shafter 53, Corcoran 30; Dinuba 61, Corcoran 44; Coalinga 58, Corcoran 40; Exeter 62, Corcoran 43; Wasco 56, Corcoran 40; Corcoran 70, Lemoore 35; Dinuba 66, Corcoran 42; Shafter 60, Corcoran 39.

Manager

THE CUB TEAM—NEAR CHAMPS

Sharpshooters

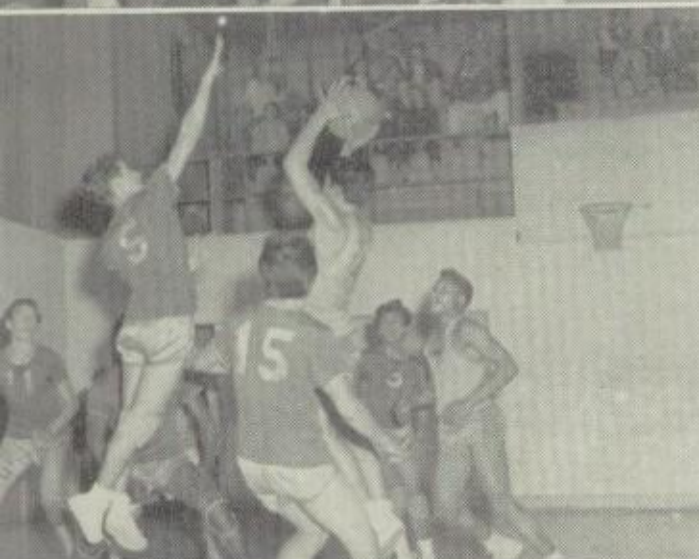

CUBS: They were sharpshooters, all right —so sharp, in fact, that they wound up at the top of the B League competition. It was too bad that these plucky boys were disqualified from the championship on a technicality, after they led the way this year in CUHS basketball.

During the over-all season they won 11, lost 6. Nylon Scott was judged most valuable player. Don Padilla was captain, and Larry LeBlanc won high point honors with his dependable shooting.

There were a lot of close games. Some were: Corcoran 36, Exeter 33; Corcoran 39, Wasco 40; Corcoran 35, Shafter 34; Corcoran 49, Lemoore 48; Corcoran 55, Dinuba 54; Corcoran 46, Lemoore 44. Clarence Robinson did a wonderful job as coach.

Apprentice C-Men

RUBEN AMERKHANIAN
Coached Kittens

KITTENS: Apprentice C men, apprentice seamen: whatever you want to call them, they were like a bunch of galloping ghosts, racing back and forth in the night. Under their new skipper, Ruben Amerkhanian, the Kittens, as the third-stringers are called, won five games out of sixteen — not a bad record for such green material.

Ignacio Gomez was voted the most valuable man on the Kitty squad, for it was his speed and sparkling team play that kept the team rolling. Fermin Espinoza was captain, and Wayne Westbay was high-point man, tossing them into the bucket with the greatest of ease.

Coach

BASEBALL: Under Paul Platz, well-liked new baseball coach, the Panther diamond squad had a fine turnout of 41 eager boys, and although plagued by weak hitting, started off the season in good fashion. The enthusiastic ball players won over McFarland and Alpaugh twice, then lost to tough Porterville college by a single point, 7 to 6. They were pretty proud of this last performance, and had a right to be.

The Panthers were beaten in league play by Exeter, Shafter, and Coalinga twice. But it wasn't as bad as this sounds, since they lost every one of these tilts by only a single run margin, indicating they were in there all the time fighting. After losing to Lemoore by a score of 6 to 1, the diamonders turned around and defeated Wasco in a night game in Corcoran, this time being on the long end of a one-run difference. So it really wasn't such a bad season after all.

In the pitching department, big Fernando Armenta stood out as a leading hurler, but Pete Villalobos and Robert Ruiz also turned in some good performances. Others on the first string squad were Fred Gresham, Cecil Terronez, Ruben Gomez, Larry Galvan, Bob Keyes, John Caudillo, Isaias Araiza, Bill Phillips, and John Ramirez.

For the second year, a junior varsity ball squad was organized under the coaching of Carlos Mendiola, and these boys, some of whom will qualify for varsity in the future, had a lot of fun.

On The Run

TRACK: What a track season Corcoran had this year! The Panthers won the league championship for the second consecutive year and for the seventh time in the last eight years. Jerry White qualified for the state championship contention in Berkeley by establishing a new Valley record of 49.3 in the 440. And Coach Robinson's boys broke five A records and one B mark. Not bad!

White made 49.3 in the Valley finals at Delano, breaking his '53 mark of 51.9. The other A records: Wayne Crow: 12-pound shot put, 54' 6½", Divisional record (old record—Harvey Vicks, 47' 2½", '52). Discus, 159' 2¾", Kern Relays (old record — Jim Travis, 140' 1", '52). Elmore Jackson: 120-yard high hurdles, 15.6, Practice meet (old record—Jackson, 15.9, '53). Ken Hammond, Warren Shackelford, White, Jackson: 880-yard relay, 1:33.2, Kern Relays (old record—Chestnut, Tanner, Slaybaugh, Harris, 1:34, '47).

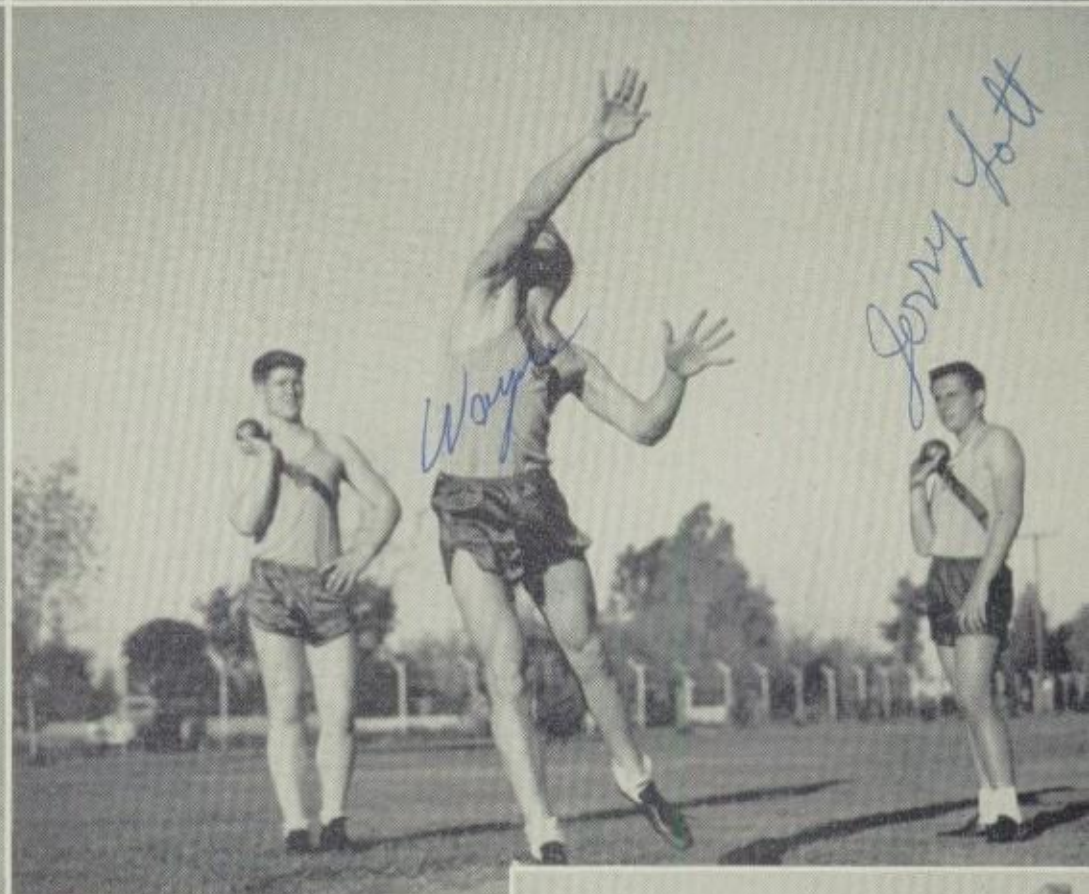

Nylon Scott broke a divisional record in the B class broad jump with a leap of 21' 6". The old mark was 20' 8", by Jerry White in 1953. It was truly a grand track season for Corcoran high, and at the time of this writing everyone was pulling for a championship for Jerry White at the state meet at Berkeley May 29, too late in the year for recording in the Harvester.

TENNIS: With tennis mentor Bob Hines at the helm, the Corcoran net team fared well in its practice matches, and hoped to climax the season by copping two or three berths in the Southern Sequoia divisional tournament at Hanford. With bad practice conditions and with tennis commencing later than it did at other schools, the racqueteters opened the season with a series of losses, but improved gradually.

The turnout was the greatest ever, with more than 50 enthusiasts taking to the courts. The aspirants were divided into beginner and advanced groups, to give everyone a better chance. As a sign that tennis is rapidly becoming a major sport at CUHS, varsity blocks were awarded to lettermen for the first time.

Lack of practice, inexperience, and the paucity of courts didn't help, as Corcoran lost to Tulare, 10 to 3, after several earlier matches had been rained out. In a later return match the Redskins were able to beat Corcoran by only 8 to 4. The Corks took their first victory when they knocked over McFarland, 9 to 5. The Panthers dropped a 10 to 4 decision to a strong Lindsay squad, then tied Redwood high of Visalia, 18 to 18, in a set-to that included 36 matches.

Too late for inclusion in the Harvester was the league tournament, which determines not only the league champions but also who is to represent the South Sequoia league in the valley finals. Some of the most outstanding players this year were Leonard Thigpin, Maggie Koepke, Dale Flaherty, Carol Freeman, Larry LeBlanc, Kay Maroot, Verlee Hammond and Betty Paredes.

Corcoran, in disagreement with the league, protested the conference's decision to make boys and girls tennis teams play at separate times and places. So the local authorities decided it would be best to free lance instead of playing a league schedule.

GAA: The Girls Athletic association, directed by Miss Kay Sullivan, was very active, both in sports and in money-raising activities. Officers were: Betty Paredes, president; Margaret Koepke, vice-president; Shirley Whiteside, secretary-treasurer. Managers of the various sports were:

Lupe Gonzales, basketball; Elaine Gilton, softball; Esther Avitia, volleyball; Dixie Harris, tumbling; Pat Steward, pingpong; Romelia Ramirez, badminton; Barbara Goodrich, swimming, and Dolores Anaya, tennis.

The Roving Ravens, under the captaincy of Maggie Koepke and the managership of Elaine Gilton, won the softball championship. Team names were from different kinds of birds. Annie Magallanes captained her volleyball team to a championship, with Esther Avitia serving as manager. The squad was named "Fresh," all teams using names of deodorants. Basketball teams were named after beer brands, the Bulldogs, captained by Betty Archibald, winning. Lupe Gonzales did an outstanding job of managing the casaba tourney.

The purpose of the Girls Athletic Association is to help the girls to become better citizens in sportsmanship, leadership and competition, and to help build strong, sound bodies. They carry on various sports activities similar to those of the boys, the main difference being that they play each other instead of other schools. Activities are scheduled for noon and after school. A point system enables a girl to receive a letter when she gains a certain number of points.

During the school year the GAA enjoyed two skating parties, a snow trip with the FFA, and a picnic scheduled for May at which awards were to be given out. Money-raising activities included candy and cake sales every Wednesday at noon throughout the school year.

Dear Mickey
Have sure
had fun in band.
I bet we'll have a great trumpet section
next year. Best of luck in future years.

To Muckie
You did a fine job in band this year and as an

Good luck in the future to a real nice guy and I hope you have a lot of fun before you graduate. Just remember to quit drinking and you'll probably pass in all your classes.
Your pal,

players I've ever met)
Just kidding, you good, but not as good as me.
To a small guy.

Lyle Clark

Dear Mickey
I've really gotten to know you this year, its probably because of Jubie. You've been real swell, & I hope you have lots of fun
next year. Of course you'll be playing 1st trumpet. Your falling in the steps of a great guy. (See how Lyle's got me trained?)
Best of luck
Mickey.
